IN 2020, MERCY HEALTH WILL CELEBRATE 100 YEARS OF CARING FOR VICTORIANS

When the Sisters of Mercy first entered the field of healthcare in Victoria it was in the wake of World War I and amid the deadly influenza epidemic of 1919. Spurred by the experience and with a growing Melbourne in need of better health services, the Sisters opened St Benedict’s Hospital in Malvern in 1920.

Over the decades that followed, the Sisters built a reputation for pioneering excellence in care and hospitality that continued to grow in strength. The success of St Benedict’s, alongside a shortage of hospital beds, particularly for the middle class, led the Sisters to open Mercy Private Hospital in East Melbourne in 1934.

The dream of opening a public maternity hospital was born early on, in 1923. It took decades of planning, persuasion and public campaigning to generate the support and money before Mercy Maternity Hospital (later renamed Mercy Hospital for Women) could finally open its doors in 1971. Werribee Mercy Hospital came next in 1994, setting a small community hospital on a journey of growth. Celebrating 25 years of caring for the Wyndham community this year, Werribee Mercy Hospital still has its most demanding period of growth immediately ahead with Wyndham now one of the fastest growing regions in Australia.

As society’s needs have changed, Mercy Health has risen to the challenge, entering aged care in 1997, mental health care in 1998 and home care services in 2007. Mercy Health now cares for communities across the country, in Victoria, southern New South Wales, northern Queensland, Western Australia and the Australian Capital Territory.

The Mercy Health mission — to bring God’s mercy to those in need — continues to be inspired by the courage, vision and determination of the Sisters of Mercy, and all those who have and continue to contribute to our exceptional story of care over the past 100 years.

Join us in celebrating 100 years of Mercy Health care.

More than 400 Health Services employees were recognised in October 2018 for their contribution and commitment to Mercy Health’s annual Staff and Volunteer Service Awards. Celebrations were held at Mercy Hospital for Women and Werribee Mercy Hospital marking service milestones up to 50 years. The spirit of Mercy is always alive at these events, and staff stories and reflections remind us of the integral part our staff play in shaping the experience of all those who come into contact with our services.

Workplace Gender Equality Agency Employer of Choice for Gender Equality and Breastfeeding Friendly Workplaces

Mercy Health received the Workplace Gender Equality Agency (WGEA) Employer of Choice for Gender Equality citation for 2018/19. Mercy Health was one of only seven organisations in the healthcare and social assistance industries across the country to receive the citation. The citation is designed to encourage, recognise and promote an active commitment to achieving gender equality in Australian workplaces while recognising the historically disadvantaged position of women in the workplace.

Mercy Health was also re-accredited for the 13th consecutive year as a Breastfeeding Friendly Workplace (BFW) by the Australian Breastfeeding Association. The BFW accreditation recognises the policies and support we have in place that assist women who return to work and continue to breastfeed.

In October 2018, Mercy Health received a WorkSafe Victoria award in the Leading Return to Work Practice to an Employer category for its launch of a national early intervention and immediate response program to promote recovery at work and manage the effects of workplace injury. With service provider Cogent Thinking, Mercy Health implemented a suite of initiatives to familiarise team members with workplace compensation legislation and encourage prompt intervention by line managers for incidents and injuries.

Welcome to the Mercy Hospitals Victoria Ltd Report of Operations for 2018/19, which has been written in accordance with the Financial Management Act 1994.

Welcome to the Mercy Hospitals Victoria Ltd Report of Operations for 2018/19, which has been written in accordance with the Financial Management Act 1994. This year, Mercy Health celebrates a quarter of a century of serving the Wyndham community. Now in its 25th year, Werribee Mercy Hospital is continuing to expand to meet the changing needs of a rapidly growing community. In August 2018, Mercy Health along with the Honourable Jill Hennessy MP and Catholic Archbishop of Melbourne Peter Comensoli, opened the Werribee Mercy Hospital Stage 1C expansion. In October, with Treasurer Tim Pallas, we officially opened the expansion of the Clare Moore Building for mental health. These expansions, along with a new paediatric ward opening in 2019, increase Mercy Health’s capacity to serve the Wyndham community and we thank the State Government of Victoria for continuing to partner with us to achieve this.

Innovation, creativity and partnerships with government and community are integral to our mission of bringing God’s mercy to those in need. Mercy Health seeks to maximise the public value of our services by working with other providers and stakeholders to improve health outcomes across the board. Examples in 2018/19 include the expansion of the Mercy Health Breastmilk Bank; continued roll-out and acknowledgment of the Obstetric Triage Decision Aid; and ever-growing recognition of Mercy Perinatal, in partnership with the University of Melbourne, as a leading light in perinatal research, education and clinical care.

Without a doubt, 2018/19 has been one of our most rewarding and most challenging years. With the magnificent benefits that expansion brings, Mercy Health was also faced with incredible pressures on increasing demand, the costs of building additional services and the impacts of funding formula changes. While these issues have created unprecedented financial challenges, we remain grateful to the State Government of Victoria for their commitment in working through this with us. As passionate and conscientious stewards of our Victorian health services, Mercy Health also acknowledges and thanks the Victorian people and all those who choose to partner with us in their healthcare. Finally, none of what we do would be possible without the all-encompassing support of those who choose to work for Mercy Health, joining us to serve those in need.

The 2019 financial year was a particularly challenging one for Mercy Hospitals Victoria Ltd (MHVL) from an operating result perspective, with MHVL incurring a substantial Comprehensive Loss for the year of $14.5 million. The Loss result for the 2019 financial year includes Long Service Leave revaluation adjustments of negative $4.5 million.

Significant operational costs were incurred to commission new acute services at Werribee Mercy Hospital (WMH) and a material increase in presentations and ambulance arrivals in the WMH Emergency Department negatively impacted on our ability to achieve targets. Increases in costs, particularly in payroll for nursing and medical staff, also resulted in substantial expenditure ahead of budget. Revenue flows for services delivered at Mercy Hospital for Women were $7.5 million lower than projected due to a reduction in birth numbers, lower than budgeted nursery occupancy and other associated funding issues.

There were no events subsequent to balance date that are expected to have a significant effect on the operations of MHVL in subsequent years.

The work of Mercy Hospitals Victoria Ltd is frequently delivered in partnership with a range of externally-based organisations and agencies and I would like to extend our gratitude to these partners for their engagement and contribution. We also thank the Victorian Government for its ongoing support.

In August, we opened the doors to the $93 million stage 1C expansion of the Werribee Mercy Hospital, representing a major milestone in the history of the hospital. With enhanced surgical, medical and intensive care services, the hospital has improved its capacity and capability to care for people living within the rapidly growing City of Wyndham.

There were many important achievements across our other services and facilities and our staff are to be commended for their unrelenting commitment to delivering the best possible experiences and outcomes for the people in our care.

In June, after nine years, we farewelled Dr Linda Mellors, Chief Executive Health Services. Linda was an outstanding leader who led with compassion and worked tirelessly to develop and grow our services. She has left a strong legacy at Mercy Hospitals Victoria Ltd.

Data provided in previous Reports of Operations included lost time claims as the loss of five or more shifts. For 2018/19 all current and previous data is reported as the loss of one or more shifts.

There has been an increase in the number of incidents reported by staff for 2018/19 due to a Mercy Health campaign encouraging staff to proactively report hazards and near misses, as well as injuries. In 2018 there was also an increase in the number of occupational violence incidents and some equipment related incidents.

Mercy Health has continued to use an early intervention and recovery at work response to workplace injuries. Mercy Health promotes reporting injuries early for assessment, treatment and suitable work accommodations. This is reflected by a decrease in our lost time injuries. In 2018 this approach was awarded a WorkSafe Award in the Leading Return to Work Practice by an Employer category by WorkSafe Victoria. The decrease in the average cost per claim reflects our early reporting and culture of recovery at work, as our staff remain at work in 85 per cent of cases.

The Mercy Health Staff Safety Plan 2018–22 has been developed through a consultative process to respond to our current and emerging health and safety risks. The plan has been endorsed by the Mercy Health Board.

The five safety priorities ensure we build a positive safety culture that supports the physical and psychological health of our staff:
1. Caring for our staff
2. Building a systems approach to safety
3. Embedding a risk management approach
4. Improving our work environment
5. Promoting a culture of safe work practices

Environmental performance

These roles are designed to integrate environmental sustainability in the organisation, specifically at Werribee Mercy Hospital and Mercy Hospital for Women which are our largest consumers and carbon emitters.

Mercy Health has also established environmental sustainability committees and working groups at the two sites, set up a network for Green Champions and implemented an Environmental Management Strategy.

Werribee Mercy Hospital Stage 1C expansion

The Stage 1C expansion of the Catherine McAuley Centre at Werribee Mercy Hospital officially opened its doors on 1 August 2018. This was a significant milestone, following years of planning to increase the hospital’s capacity to respond to the healthcare needs of people living in the rapidly growing Wyndham region. The expansion was officially opened on 30 August 2018 with Minister for Health Jill Hennessy MP and Catholic Archbishop of Melbourne Peter Comensoli in attendance.

The new facilities have opened progressively, increasing the hospital’s capacity to deliver surgical, medical and intensive care services as well as critical support functions pertaining to food services and supply. Our workforce expanded to support the new facilities and new models of care were implemented to enhance patient wellbeing in the carefully designed clinical spaces. Feedback from patients, visitors and staff has been extremely positive.

Planning for the implementation of dedicated paediatric beds at Werribee Mercy Hospital continues, with beds expected to open in August 2019.

Official opening of the Clare Moore Building at Werribee Mercy Hospital

The Clare Moore Building at Werribee Mercy Hospital was officially opened in October 2018 by the Victorian Treasurer and Member for Werribee Tim Pallas. While acute mental health inpatient services have been delivered in the building since late 2017, the occasion enabled formal acknowledgement of the efforts of the many people involved in bringing the facility to fruition. At the opening, Mercy Mental Health Clinical Services Director Associate Professor Dean Stevenson shared some of his own insights about mental healthcare provision over time, noting the advancements that have led to more respectful, inclusive and holistic care.
Mercy Mental Health – Royal Australia and New Zealand College of Psychiatrists training program

With funding support from the Department of Health and Human Services, Mercy Mental Health completed a feasibility study for the development and implementation of a junior medical workforce training model. This is an essential step towards attracting and retaining high-quality trainees and consultants in the field of mental health medicine. In 2018, Mercy Mental Health appointed a Director of Training (Junior Medical Staff) to lead the development of a training program. Provisional accreditation for a Royal Australia and New Zealand College of Psychiatrists training program has been confirmed and Mercy Mental Health will begin offering a training program from February 2020.

Accreditation of training in intensive care medicine at Werribee Mercy Hospital

The College of Intensive Care Medicine of Australia and New Zealand has endorsed Werribee Mercy Hospital’s application for foundation training and confirmed the Intensive Care Unit’s suitability for elective and basic components of intensive care training. This will advance the capability of Werribee Mercy Hospital and its staff in providing critical care services for the Wyndham population close to home.

Werribee Mercy Hospital accreditation by the Royal Australasian College of Physicians

Through the year, the Royal Australasian College of Physicians granted the Division of Medicine conditional accreditation as a Level 1 Teaching Hospital for Adult Internal Medicine Basic Training to February 2020. This accreditation represents an important step in the development of Internal Medicine at Werribee Mercy Hospital and enhances the hospital’s ability to recruit junior medical staff to support the growing needs of the local community.

Victorian Stroke Telemedicine at Werribee Mercy Hospital

On 29 July 2018, Minister for Health Jill Hennessy MP visited Werribee Mercy Hospital to launch the Victorian Stroke Telemedicine (VST) program. This initiative enables clinicians to collaborate across organisational boundaries to deliver the best care possible to patients with stroke, irrespective of their location. Werribee Mercy Hospital operationalised the first high-definition telecommunication equipment necessary to support the initiative and continues to work with other hospitals in rural and regional Victoria in its use of this potentially life-saving technology and system of care.

Mercy Perinatal

Mercy Perinatal and the Maternal Fetal Medicine Unit at Mercy Hospital for Women has continued to attract national and international acclaim for its work in bringing mothers and babies safely home. A centre of excellence in perinatal care, research and teaching, Mercy Perinatal brings together clinicians, academics and researchers who passionately strive to improve outcomes for women and their babies.

In July 2018, Mercy Perinatal delivered two days of perinatal education and updates at the Improving Maternity Care Workshop and Medical Disorders in Pregnancy Symposium. The booked-out events focused on antenatal and intrapartum care, medical complications, critical care and advancements in obstetric medicine.

In November, another highly successful Global Obstetric Update was held in Melbourne. The event summarised best practice and international literature for clinicians. Bimonthly ‘Fetal Medicine at Twilight’ webinars also continued to be broadcast to clinicians across Australia and around the world.

In the University of Melbourne laboratories based at Mercy Hospital for Women, Mercy Perinatal staff continued groundbreaking research in the areas of stillbirth, ectopic pregnancy, pre eclampsia and fetal growth restriction. A number of team members received National Health and Medical Research Council Chief Investigator Grants, underscoring the importance of the research underway.

Obstetric Triage Decision Aid – finalist in Victorian Public Healthcare Awards

The Obstetric Triage Decision Aid project supported by Better Care Victoria continued to have significant clinical benefits at both Mercy Hospital for Women and Werribee Mercy Hospital. The tool has resulted in pregnant and postpartum women receiving prompt assessment and treatment that reduces the likelihood of further deterioration.

In July 2018, the project team delivered a consultancy workshop at the Royal Australasian College of Surgeons in conjunction with Better Care Victoria and our insurer, the Victorian Managed Insurance Authority. The workshop provided an opportunity to share the results of the project and to discuss sector-wide interest and potential for the tool’s wider implementation across the state.

The project garnered broad sector interest and through the year was presented at a number of national and international forums.

The Obstetric Triage Decision Aid Project was a finalist in the Victorian Public Healthcare Awards in the category of women’s health. This further recognises the merits of the project and its benefits for women and babies.

Mercy Health Breastmilk Bank expansion

The expansion of the Mercy Health Breastmilk Bank is well underway. This will enable donated breastmilk to be collected and distributed at Victoria’s other neonatal intensive care units at the Royal Women’s Hospital, Royal Children’s Hospital and Monash Health. We are grateful for the support and collaboration of these hospitals, along with the support of the Department of Health and Human Services and the Victorian Managed Insurance Authority, our insurer, to enable us to expand our services.

Each year, Victorian maternity and neonatal services care for hundreds of babies and their families where normal circumstances are interrupted by maternal illness, premature birth or the unexpected severe illness of a full term baby. For the mothers of these babies, establishing normal lactation can be extremely challenging and donor human milk is an alternative to mother’s own milk.

Health Services Staff and Volunteer Service Awards

More than 400 Health Services employees were recognised in October 2018 for their contribution and commitment at Mercy Health’s annual Staff and Volunteer Service Awards. Celebrations were held at Mercy Hospital for Women and Werribee Mercy Hospital marking service milestones up to 50 years. The spirit of Mercy is always alive at these events, and staff stories and reflections remind us of the integral part our staff play in shaping the experience of all those who come into contact with our services.

Workplace Gender Equality Agency Employer of Choice for Gender Equality and Breastfeeding Friendly Workplace

Mercy Health received the Workplace Gender Equality Agency (WGEA) Employer of Choice for Gender Equality citation for 2018/19. Mercy Health was one of only seven organisations in the healthcare and social assistance industries across the country to receive the citation. The citation is designed to encourage, recognise and promote an active commitment to achieving gender equality in Australian workplaces while recognising the historically disadvantaged position of women in the workplace.

Mercy Health was also re-accredited for the 13th consecutive year as a Breastfeeding Friendly Workplace (BFW) by the Australian Breastfeeding Association. The BFW accreditation recognises the policies and support we have in place that assist women who return to work and continue to breastfeed.

In 2018, Mercy Palliative Care launched a 24/7 community-based palliative care service that provides every palliative care patient with access to a palliative care nurse, accompanied by a personal care worker, at night. This specialised service provides patient-centred and holistic palliative care for patients and their carers in the home environment. The model was awarded the Outreach Health Care Award at the Catholic Health Australia (CHA) Gala Dinner in August.

Werribee Mercy Hospital Emergency Department Sepsis Project

The Werribee Mercy Hospital Emergency Department collaborated with the Safer Care Victoria Emergency Clinical Care Network on a project to improve the care of patients with sepsis presenting to the Emergency Department. Through implementation of a recognition tool, a sepsis bundle of care pathway and an online learning package, the project team improved clinician understanding and awareness of sepsis, and improved early recognition and management of sepsis.
